

SOUTH DAKOTA ASSOCIATION OF THE DEAF TRAVEL AND REIMBURSEMENT POLICY

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Travel and Reimbursement Policy is to help establish consistent, reasonable and accountable standards and guidelines for SDAD Board Members and members who travel and incur expenses on behalf of SD Association of the Deaf, Inc. (hereafter referenced as “SDAD”, as well as for those individuals who arrange and/or authorize such travel and expenses. Policies and guidelines are necessary for SDAD cost control as well as to meet federal tax requirements, and to help justify reimbursable expenses incurred with customers and business partners. Any Reference to “ Executive Committee” contained herein refers to the Board Officers (President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer).

SDAD’s Travel and Expense Policy (T&E Policy) is applicable to all Board Members, members and to non-members (external visitors, consultants, contract labor, etc.) who require reimbursement by SDAD and pertains to travel and related expenses incurred, when carrying out SDAD’s business. The intent of the policy is that board members and members treat SDAD’s expenses as if it was their own money and make reasonable and prudent decisions (Good Judgment). No policy can cover every possible circumstance, to that end, SDAD reserves the right to evaluate expenses incurred under the “Good Judgment” rule, in order to determine whether or not SDAD should reimburse. All decisions by SDAD Executive Committee are final.

2. POLICY

It is SDAD’s policy and philosophy that SDAD Board Members and members incur prudent expenditures necessary to conduct the business at hand in a reasonable manner, and that any business related expenses will be promptly reimbursed. Expenses should be reasonable and appropriate, and should be respectful of SDAD’s financial position and resources. SDAD Board Members and members are expected to use good judgment when incurring business expenses and follow the guidelines contained in this document. Expense reporting and reimbursement is not to supplement personal income.

2.1 SDAD reserves the right to refuse reimbursement for any expense deemed excessive or unnecessary. It is important for all travelers who will be incurring expenses in the conduct of business, to recognize that there are acceptable charges for hotel, car rental, and meal expenditure, as well as air and ground travel. SDAD is very much aware that there are differences in cost from region to region; however, good judgment and common sense must prevail. Simply put, when planning your business travel, think of it as if you were “spending your own money.”

2.2 Direct billing to SDAD is not permitted for expenses. All reimbursable business expenses are to be submitted through SDAD Treasurer.

2.3 Any individual submitting a fraudulent expense report will be subject to disciplinary action. Regardless of who prepares and enters the expense report, the individual reporting the expenses should review the report for accuracy and is responsible for the data submitted.

3. EXPENSE SUBMISSION AND REIMBURSEMENT

Reimbursement will be processed by the Treasurer after all approvals have been received and receipts have been audited to ensure compliance with the organization policy.

3.3 U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS) code requires reimbursable expenditures be supported by adequate records that clearly established by they are ordinary and necessary, reasonable in amount, and incurred for valid business purpose.
