

Jennie Wright, a teacher from the Nebraska School for the Deaf and sister of E. G. Wright, came to Sioux Falls in October 1880 to assist Rev. Thomas B. Berry in establishing the new school for deaf children in Dakota Territory. After Berry left Sioux Falls in 1881, Wright continued the work of the school for a short period.

Her leadership of the school is described in the next era.